"It is an international partner and a leader in their field that, like us, values innovation and the strength of community ties. Its support — also proudly displayed on our jerseys — gives us an extra boost as we approach a season in which we aim to play a leading role in Italy and Europe, continuing to dream and win together".*

"We are proud to associate our brand with a team like Chieri '76, which perfectly embodies the values of determination, collaboration, and the continuous pursuit of excellence," said Roberto Sportiello, CEO of Drivalia. "Our commitment to volleyball strengthens our presence in the Italian sports scene, where over the years we have supported, in various ways, prominent teams in soccer, basketball, cycling, and tennis.
